- Why did you choose to participate at the AI Hardware & Edge AI Summit?

The AI Hardware & Edge AI Summit is the premier event for industry leaders to discuss the latest advancements in AI hardware design and how it's propelling the development of AI applications.

- Who are you most looking forward to connecting with?

I'm keen to connect with thought leaders and experts in the field to gain insights from their experiences and learn from their journeys. I am especially keen on connecting with Andrew Ng, whose work on deep learning is a foundational masterclass for AI.

- How do you feel the industry is going to evolve?

With the success of foundation models in both consumer and enterprise settings in 2023, I believe we're at an inflection point towards sustainable AI adoption. The summit is a great platform to explore how these advancements will converge and unlock significant value for organizations across industries.
